

9 Fascinating Objects, Works of Art, and Antiques You Won't Want to Miss at This Year's Winter Show

Now in its 66th year, the annual fair of decorative arts and design returns to the Park Avenue Armory with 72 exhibitors and a whole lot of treasures.

artnet Gallery Network, January 24, 2020

The Winter Show 2020 Opening Night Party Benefit for East Side House. Courtesy of BFA Zach Hilly.

Time to dust off the brooches and polish the silver—the winter antiques season is officially in full swing in New York. The New York Antique Ceramics Fair, the Antiques & Design Show, and—the grand dame of them all—the Winter Show all open in the Upper East Side this weekend. Now in its 66th year, the Winter Show is a connoisseur's dream, bringing together 72 fine and decorative arts dealers who will present jewelry, art, antiques, and armor from throughout the ages and around the world.

And it's for a good cause, too—proceeds from Winter Show ticket sales go to the East Side House Settlement, a community-based social services organization serving the Bronx and Northern Manhattan.

The show is a dizzying confluence of fascinating objects—and it can be a lot to take in. To get you started, we've picked nine artworks and objects worth seeking out.

The Calcagni Hours
circa 1508
Les Enluminures, Booth A6

The Calcagni Hours (Use of Rome) in Latin, illuminated manuscript on parchment (circa 1508).
Courtesy of Les Enluminures.

This sumptuous illuminated Book of Hours was created for a member of the Sienese Calcagni family from the workshop of Attavante degli Attavanti, one of the most celebrated illuminators of Renaissance Florence.

The Winter Show is open to the public through Sunday, February 2, 2020. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 12 p.m.–8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday from 12 p.m.–4:30 p.m.; Saturday from 12 p.m.–7 p.m.; Sunday from 12 p.m.–6 p.m.